Jesus Christ! When Will it All Just End?

BY BEN TORRES

Last week, Ye, formerly known as Kanye West, shocked the world with his "White Lives Matter" t-shirt at Paris Fashion Week. What we didn't realize, was that this would spur competition between other racists, antisemites, and every other type of bigot out there! Just recently, Nury Martinez entered the competition, insulting Oaxacan immigrants, African Americans, and even talking about beating up a baby. Damn Nury! you pray for that! Even Oxy's own LA Council representative Kevin De Leon entered the race! sneakily claiming that he was present for Martinez's hateful comments, but WE all know who did the real heavy lifting. Apparently, Ye's ego is too big to let someone be more hateful than him, driving him to go full-nazi, Damn Ye! Turns out, people are terrible! Dammit!

Fuck Off, Prospective Students

BY KATE AMSDEN

Why do we all hate prospective students? Why do we want to scare away every tour group we see on campus? Why am I taking midterms when I could just drop out and be a stripper? These were all questions that we asked ourselves last Friday when herds of prospective students and their parents visited campus. Lucky them, they were just in time to see half of us having mental breakdowns on the quad after finishing our last midterm before fall break. But don't worry – I think all the Obama shrines and the fountain in front of the MP (turned on for literally the first time this year) made up for any depress-y vibes that us academic weapons were giving off. Thanks Obama.

The CHOAT

BY EMILY WILIAMS

The Green Bean has espresso and probably chai and maybe oat milk again :) Dirty Choat (my affectionate term for all you filthy chai with oat milk drinkers out there) Enthusiasts Rejoice! Don't ask about blended chais. Our deepest condolences to anyone who could only give their matcha lattes as sacrificial offerings to the Quad Squirrels last week, we know how particular they get.

Please be advised that with Homecoming fast approaching a license to kill parents or alumni attempting to pay with anything except meal plan money has been given to all GB supervisors and managers. Top Secret Drink

Recommendations: Next time the line isn't grotesquely long, order a 22oz. iced green tea with 1.375 pumps of lavender, 11.22 pumps of lemonade, and 3.14 pumps of hazelnut, stirred in the mop bucket and spit in by the hottest barista currently on shift. Need a little more caffeine? Try this: a 16oz iced latte with 13 shots of espresso, and instead of milk, ask for cold brew and the ~special stuff~ they have in the back. Happy Choating!

Sleepy Joe Not Based???!?

BY KIERAN MACKAY

Joe Biden woke up when September ended, just like the Green Day song told him, and decided that Instagram story reposts from stoners was the exact boost the Democrats needed for their midterm effort. Apparently, his plan doesn't actually pardon all marijuana offenses, just federal possession charges for certain people. Lamé. If I were president, I'd legalize everything and just see what happens. Nobody comes up with dope policy like that anymore. Why is "fuck around and find out" not a legitimate governance strategy? American Politicians are some squares fr fr.
